MODDER RIVER NURSERIES.

WE wish to thank all Customers and Friends for generous support and kind recommendations in the past, and we beg to assure all no efforts will be spared to give every satisfaction.

Our Nursery is registered under the Government Nurseries' Inspection Act, and is free from insect pests and plant disease. The Nursery is situated in one of the driest districts of the Union, and trees and plants from here should thrive in any part of South Africa.

Selection of Sorts—Where selection of different kinds is left to us, we only send out such as we know to be of the very best.

Time to Plant—The best time to plant deciduous trees and rose plants is from the middle of May till the end of August.

Trees in tins can be transplanted any time of the year.

Packing will be charged at lowest cost prices for material used. Usual cost per 100 trees 2/6. Trees are carefully and well packed, and for long distances special care is taken to stand transition to any part of the country.

Plants in Tins will be delivered free on rail at Modder River Station, railage to be paid by Customers unless previously arranged.

Agricultural Post.—Trees and Rose plants can be sent to any Post Office where parcels are delivered, at a charge of 1/6 for each 11 lb. weight of parcel.

White Crystal—White grape, good quality and hardy, one of the best.

White Muscadel—Early white grape.

GRAPE VINES are excellent for quickly forming Summer Houses, Arbours, &c., or for any purpose where dense shade is needed in summer and not in winter. They are quick climbers, need no tying up, as they grip naturally with their tendrils, grow easily and well in almost any soil, producing regularly and abundantly the best of fruit, and require attention, in pruning, only once a year. All grape vines will climb freely.

Very Large 3 year old Vines, 3/- each.

Quinces.

I to 3 years old, 6d. to 1/- each. Cheaper in quantity.

Cape Selected—Good Colonial variety.

Meeches Prolific—Large golden yellow, good flavour.

Orange—Large roundish, fine golden colour.

Portugal—Oblong, yellow and juicy.

Pomegranates.

1 to 2 years old. Same as above.

THE POMEGRANATES AND QUINCES thrive remarkably well, forming hardy quick-set hedges, with the advantage of bearing at the same time good fruit, which by simply hanging up in a cool place will keep right into Winter.

Almonds.

1, 2 and 3 year old trees, 6d., 1/- and 1/6 each ; extra large, 2/-.

THE ALMOND grows most easily, forming naturally large well shaped trees, with dense shade in Summer and shadeless in Winter, and thrives well in lime soil. The hard shell seedling kinds are not profitable, as they bloom too early, and the blooms get killed by frost, but the following sorts will be found good and profitable, and should be grown more extensively. Plant varieties alternately as they need cross fertilization to ensure good crops.

I.X.L.—A strong upright grower, nuts large and shells soft.

Jordan—The most celebrated almond of commerce.

No Plus Ultra—Very good bearer, medium nut.

Nonpareil—Smaller nuts than I.X.L., but good bearer, and perfect soft shell variety.

Paper Shell—Medium size, very soft shelled nut of excellent quality.

Mulberries.

THE MULBERRY grows easily in any soil, even in limy soil, and grows into a large and dense Summer shade tree, shadeless in Winter, producing its delicious fruits abundantly, and ripe at Christmas time and onwards. A few trees should be in every garden.

1, 2 and 3 year old trees, 6d. 1/- and 1/6 each.

Loquats.

2 to 3 years old, 1 to 3 feet high, in tins, from 1/- to 3/- each.

Forest and Ornamental Trees.

Beefwood—Single Trees in tins, 1/- ; 3 to 5 trees in a tin, 9d. each tree.

Cypress Macrocarpa—Single trees in tins, 1/- each, 9/- per dozen ; 2 to 5 trees in a tin, 9d. each tree.

„ Horizontalis—Same as above.

„ Pyramidalis—Same as above.

Pinas Halapinsis—Same as above.

White Mulberries—1/- each.

White Poplar—1/- each.

Tamerisk—1/- each. This tree will grow in brak soil.

Previt—6d. each ; 30/- per 100. Splendid ever-green hedge plant.

Red Gum—Quickest growing, frost and drought resisting, and altogether the hardiest and best gum to grow in exposed positions. Single trees in tins, 1/6 to 1/9 each, ; 3 to 5 trees in a tin, 9d. each tree.

Pepper Trees—6d. and 1/- each in tins.

Karree Trees—9d. each, and 1/6 in tins. The Karree trees should be planted extensively, as these are fine shelter for stock, and will grow without water after the first year.

Ornamental Fruit Trees.

Prices 1/6 each.

White Double Flowering Peach ; beautiful white flowers—edible.

Red Double Flowering Peach ; beautiful red flowers—an attraction in any flower-garden.

Pink Flowering Quince ; very early blooms pink and white, striking colours.

Golden Leaf Peach ; leaves golden and green ; quite new ; fruit very good.

Vesuvius Plum ; bronze-coloured foliage ; very ornamental.

HINTS ON ROSE CULTURE

Situation.

A place apart from trees and other plants should be assigned to roses, oblong beds about four feet wide are best, as flowers may be gathered and plants handled without treading on beds. A north-eastern aspect, or any position where plants would get morning sun is best. Roses like free circulation, and should not be closely surrounded by trees, as near trees the soil is likely to be crowded with roots, and closeness is apt to cause weakness and mildew.

Preparation of Ground.

If roses must be planted near trees, as is often the case in old gardens, have the ground well trenched—at least two feet deep—carefully remove all roots, keeping the subsoil below but thoroughly breaking it up, and mix well rotted manure with it, then cover with good soil and tread down firm. Prepare ground some time before planting if possible.

Planting.

Roses can be safely planted from open ground at any time between about the middle of May to the end of August, or whenever frosty weather begins in Autumn, till it ends in Spring. During the season of frost, roses and most deciduous plants are dormant, and can be safely transplanted. From tins they can be planted at any time of the year.

Put the plants in same depth as they were, or a little deeper, spread the roots out well, fill up with good soil, tread firm, and water well at once, sufficiently to saturate the ground around the roots. Stake each plant to prevent shaking where exposed to wind

Watering.

Thoroughly saturate the ground immediately the trees are planted ; after that a good soaking once or twice a week should be enough.

Manuring.

Roses require plenty of manure when once well established and thriving ; this should be simply forked into the soil around the plants. A thin layer of straw or light manure left as a mulch on surface of rose beds is beneficial to the plants. Newly planted roses should not be manured.

Thinning and Suckering.

While the plants are growing, don't allow too many shoots on a branch or to a plant. Look out for suckers, i.e., wild shoots which break out from the root underground. Cut them clean off at the root. Wild rose shoots are generally easily recognised by their lance shaped leaves ; if allowed to grow they impoverish the grafted rose, and may choke it off altogether.

Mildew and Greenfly.

The best cure for mildew is flowers of sulphur, applied immediately it is noticed ; if the foliage is dry, syringe the plants before dusting them with the sulphur, or apply in the morning when dew is on the leaves. Greenfly is said to be destroyed by guassia chips and soft soap. Boil 4 ozs. of guassia chips in a gallon of water for 10 minutes, strain and dissolve in it 4 ozs. of soft soap, to this add another gallon or two of water, and apply with a syringe in the evening, and syringe again with clean water in the morning.

Encourage ladybird insects on the rose plants, as they destroy greenfly quickly and effectually. Ladybirds are usually found in fields of green barley in the early Spring, and will as a rule find their way to rose plants when greenfly is about.

Any information or assistance that we can give will be gladly given, as we are anxious that all roses and trees sent out by us should give satisfaction, and a Post Card addressed "Nurseries, Modder River." will always find us.
